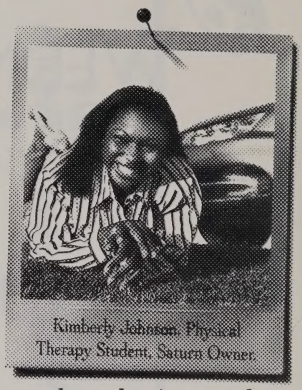
“I intend to keep it forever.”



Kimberly Johnson, Physical Therapy Student, Saturn Owner.

Something to keep in mind: if you buy a Saturn, you might become quite attached to it. Many Saturn owners can attest to this. But, life being what it is, the time may come when you need to (gulp) sell it. So, it's nice to know that Saturns have among the highest resale values of cars in their class. Meaning, they don't spend too long in the classified section. Which is good. (We've always preferred quick and painless breakups.) Hope to see you soon.

The 1996 Saturn SL1. Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price [$11,785] includes retailer preparation and transportation. Tax, license, options and state-required equipment additional. Each retail facility is responsible for setting its own selling price, which may differ from the price suggested above. ©1995 Saturn Corporation.

Friends of Rochester Gay Men's Chorus,

Welcome to "Moonlight and Neon!" Tonight the Chorus presents the most celebrated headliner in our history, the fabulous Flirtations. Their a cappella singing has entertained gay/lesbian and straight audiences, and we know you'll enjoy their performance tonight.

This exciting season will culminate in July with our appearance at the GALA choral festival in Tampa. RGMC and the Rochester Women's Community Chorus will represent our city at this gathering of over 100 gay and lesbian choruses. On June 15th, both choruses will share our GALA selections with our friends at home. Join us for "Blue Skies" at Rochester Museum & Science Center's Eisenhart Auditorium.

Development Director John Owen has recently secured for RGMC both a New York State Council on the Arts Challenge Grant and a Rochester Arts and Cultural Council grant for the '95-'96 year. RGMC is grateful to these organizations. As always we thank our financial and spiritual supporters, and our hard-working volunteers. Without you, we couldn't maintain our presence as musical ambassadors from the gay community to Rochester and from Rochester to the world.

THE FLIRTATIONS

There will be a brief intermission during the Flirtations' performance.

It was 1988 when 'The Flirts,' as they're known to their fans, first nervously ventured out onto the street corners of New York City's Greenwich Village to sing their unique brand of a cappella – nervously, because they intended from the very start to be exactly what they were: proudly and unabashedly gay.

Little could they have guessed that within the next few years they would have sung in Carnegie Hall and Yankee Stadium; appeared in a feature film (Jonathan Demme's Philadelphia); performed on national television (Good Morning America, Donahue, MTV News); been profiled on National Public Radio's Morning Edition, in the HBO Documentary "Why am I Gay?," and even in Entertainment Weekly.

Their performances, which feature a wide variety of musical styles, an irresistible sense of humor, and joy at being who they are, has created a network of avid fans – gay and straight – across the US, Canada and Europe.

Recently they've had a "sex change," adding to the group their first woman member ever. The nationally known jazz vocalist Suede (recent winner of a lawsuit against The Sony Corporation and The London Suede for trademark violations) joins longtime veteran Jimmy Rutland and founder Jon Arterton in the group's new three-voice configuration, which has already begun to earn raves from critics and longtime Flirts Fans. The largest newspaper in Switzerland, Der Bund, has declared that "in their new trio formation they rank with the world's best a cappella groups!" The Flirtations expect to release their third album in May.

Matt Berman, Lighting and Sound Design, is best known in New York for his work in Cabaret and concerts. The winner of six MAC awards (Manhattan Association of Cabarets) for Outstanding Technical Achievement, he has also won Backstage Magazine's "Bistro Award" for his lighting and sound designs. Matt has been touring with The Flirtations for the past six months, including their most recent trip to Switzerland. Recent New York design credits include The Club off-Broadway, Take It Easy, a new musical off-Broadway, Anna Sokolow's Players' Project in New York, Boston and Korea, and Amanda McBroom at Rainbow and Stars in NY. Matt had the great honor of being the lighting and sound designer for the late Nancy LaMott over the last five years until her untimely death last December. Matt also designs and tours internationally with La Gran Scena Opera Company, Miss Coco Peru, and Steve Ross. In addition, Matt designs the New York appearances of such luminaries as Cybil Shepard, Margaret Whiting, Ann Hampton-Callaway, Julie Halston, Julie Wilson, Karen Mason, and the incomparable Hildegarde.

Nick Williams, Music Director, has been involved in Rochester Gay Men's Chorus for thirteen years. As one of RGMC's original members, he helped start and build what is now one of the most respected small men's choruses in North America. It is through his inspirational leadership that Rochester is on the map and in the hearts of people all across this continent. He has taken RGMC to New Jersey, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Minneapolis, Seattle and Vancouver, BC., leading performances which showed RGMC's diversity, pride and commitment and stunned the nation with Nick's green polka-dot dress and lollipop. He has helped lead the Gay and Lesbian Association of Choruses by presenting workshops at its leadership conference and serving on its Board of Directors.

Nick believes in what a gay chorus can do. Not only do they sing with beauty and love, but they carry words of inspiration and hope in the world that being gay is a normal and wonderful part of life. He hopes that each of you will carry that message to all those whom you love and touch.

Kristin Roach, Principal Accompanist, is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, where she studied piano with Anton Nel and Fernando Laires and conducting with David Effron. Especially active in chamber music, Kristin has performed in the former Soviet Union and Japan, as well as throughout Western New York, Colorado, Connecticut, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas. She has appeared as a soloist with the San Antonio Symphony and with the Eastman Philharmonia. She has also served as pianist for the Breckenridge Music Institute, New World Symphony, Buffalo Opera Unlimited, Opera Theatre of Rochester, Aspen Opera Theater Center, Eastman Opera Theatre, and Eastman Wind Ensemble Japan Tour. She is currently pursuing a master's degree in Piano Performance and Chamber Music at The Eastman School, while studying with Jean Barr.
